

Evidence of Brutal Torture

Head wounded from beating

Beatings led to full-body paralysis and the inability to speak or breathe

Bruises on whole body caused by beatings

As a result of police brutality, Zhang Dong fell from the fourth floor. He suffered three fractures in his left arm, three fractures and shattered bones in his left leg, a fracture in his pelvis, and much internal bleeding. He also experienced lung failure. Zhang gradually regained consciousness after being treated for six days in the Intensive Care ward of a hospital, but his left arm had to be amputated because he was so badly injured.

Forced to stand in the snow, causing severe frostbite

Scorched by Chinese police using a red-hot iron, which caused 13 third-degree burns

Arm broken as a result of beating

Tortured by electric needle